TETSUJI SETA

*At the end of March 2011, I had come to London to attend BAMS Conference.
The severe earthquake happened in Japan 14 days before I left Japan.
The news of the earthquake was flowing every day in the television of London.*

*Events that I experience as traveler in London,
events what has been happening in the world,
and events of the plant and insects who have been happening in my garden.*

*I do not think that these events has something of relativity.
However, it is true that all events happened.*

*On May 30, 2011, I received e-mail from Teylers Museum.
It was information that I had been nominated to Van der Veen /Teylers Prize.
Next morning, I found the goldfish in my garden dead.*

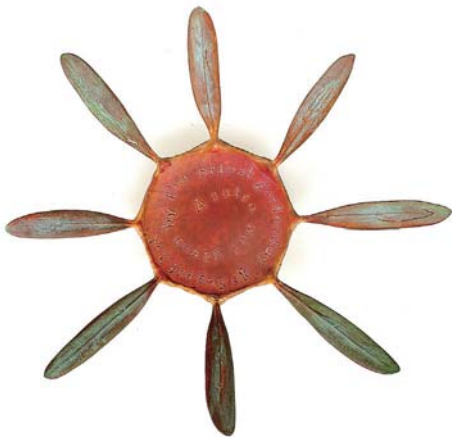

*The Regent's Park
7 April 2011*

*It was a very warm day
I ate the sandwich at the Hub*

Various events have happened in my garden every day.
It is to concern growth of plants and life and death of insects.
The events happening in my garden represent my private events.
Natural marks make my memory evoke.
This is ,so to speak, the one like my diary.
